Dear agents of the United States, In an initial adverse adjudication made on November 10, 2014 under NARA's FOIA Case NGC15-014 with respect to my FOIA Request for the "list of every position in every component of the NARA that was a career reserved position (CRP) within its Senior Executive Service (SES), I was DENIED the actual list but was instead provided nothing more than what appears to be the following internet website-page address: "<https://www.federalregister.gov/articles/2014/07/23/2014-16966/ses-positions-that-were-career-reserved-during-cy-2013>". To top it off, I was also DENIED notification of my right to appeal to the head of the NARA with respect to the adversity of such adjudication. Referring to NARA's codified FOIA definitions under 1250.3(l) (see 79 FR 56505 of Monday-September 22, 2014), NOWHERE is the public informed that an internet website-page address means "operational record". Referring to the DOJ's/OIP's supreme Executive-branch-wide FOIA authority (see Department of Justice Guide to the Freedom of Information Act Procedural Requirements /<http://www.justice.gov/sites/default/files/oip/legacy/2014/07/23/procedural-requirements.pdf>-pages 9-15), NOWHERE is the public informed that an internet website-page address means "agency record ". Referring to the FOIA recommendations of the OGIS (see <https://ogis.archives.gov/about-ogis/ogis-reports.htm> , NOWHERE is the public informed that an internet website-page address shall mean "record". Sincerely, Brady Eames
